Letter to Shareholders June 3, 2026

Dear Fellow Shareholders:

Since stepping into the role of Chief Operating Officer in January, my focus has been on strengthening the operational foundation that will support our next phase of growth. This has been a period of meaningful change, one defined not only our recent activities, but by building for the future.

A significant milestone over the past months has been the successful relocation of our GMP laboratory from its home of the past 10 years to a new space across the street from our headquarters. While the move itself required careful planning and coordination, it represents far more than a new address.

The new proximity has already begun to transform how our teams work together. By bringing our GMP lab closer to our core operations, we are fostering stronger collaboration, faster communication, and greater alignment across functions. Throughout the transition, I have been especially encouraged by the level of teamwork demonstrated — teams stepping up to support one another, sharing expertise, and ensuring continuity during a complex move.

This move positions us to operate more efficiently and to innovate more effectively as we look ahead. It is an important step in building a more connected way of operating that enhances both our speed and our quality of execution.

I would also like to personally invite our shareholders to experience this progress firsthand. I welcome the opportunity to host you for a tour of our labs, where you can see the impact of these changes and meet the team making everything possible.

Thank you for your continued support as we continue to strengthen our operations and build for the future.

Sincerely,

Jodi McDonald
